

Hello friends and family,

We are doing very well. Our apartment is starting to become home. We have just about everything we need except for living room furniture. We have begun to make friends in our apartment complex. There is a young couple just below us that just had a newborn baby girl. They invited us down to visit and see the baby. She was six days old in this picture.

Our kids met a teenage girl in our complex who became quick friends with the family. We call her Lee. Lee and her friend Lavender took us on a tour of a park in the city here. We had so much fun making new friends and seeing the beautiful things. We went on some bumper boats and bumped our new friends all around the water. "All" the kids had so much fun. This same day Carl happened to get the cutest picture ever of a little baby.

this is not us, just the bumper boats!

We pretty much walk everywhere here, so to make it fun for the kids we bought them all scooters. They love these things. They are getting quite talented with tricks and they fly down the sidewalks in front of us.

We hope you all are doing well. We miss you all lots.
Love,
The Neals
